MAY 2024

The Regal Investment Fund ("RF1") Net Asset Value ("NAV") increased by 1.7% to $3.39 in May. Since inception on 17 June 2019, the Fund has generated 19.4% p.a. net of fees.¹

Global equity markets advanced in May (MSCI World +4.2%), led by a strong showing from the tech-heavy NASDAQ Composite Index (+6.9%) following another set of very strong earnings from global semiconductor manufacturer Nvidia. The slowing consumer thematic has also been evident in Australia, where weaker retail sales and a series of guidance downgrades from the discretionary retail sector did little to lift sentiment over the month. While the ASX200 gained +0.5% for May, there was a more defensive tone to the sectorial performance as investors rotated away from consumer facing stocks and the major banks. US 10yr bond yields remained broadly unchanged for the month, while commodity prices were mixed.

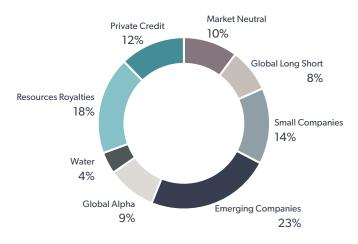

Pleasingly, all 8 strategies attributed positive returns in May, led by the Global Alpha and Resources Royalties strategies, which returned 58bps and 52bps respectively¹. The Global Alpha strategy benefitted from discretionary positions in Australia and the United States, while the Resources Royalties strategy performed well following a larger than expected royalty payment from the strategy's flagship investment in QLD, the Talinga gas royalty.
