

Regal Investment Fund (ASX: RF1)

MARCH 2022

The Regal Investment Fund Net Asset Value (NAV) increased by +6.6% to $3.77 in March. Since inception on 17 June 2019, the Fund has generated 32.3% p.a. net of fees¹. Global equity markets stabilised in March, as heightened concerns surrounding rising global inflation data and the shock invasion of Ukraine were replaced with a more sanguine view of the Federal Reserve's efforts to contain inflation and cautious optimism that the Russian-Ukrainian conflict would not escalate into a broader regional crisis. The S&P 500 rose +3.7%, the MSCI World rose +2.5% and the NASDAQ rose +3.5%, having now rallied +11% from the beginning of the Ukrainian invasion. While equities delivered strong returns, commodity markets were the standout in March, driven by continued long-term supply deficits and steadily improving economic growth. WTI oil rose +4.8%, copper +4.5% and wheat +7.9%. Strengthening commodity markets continue to also drive an inflow of offshore capital into the resource-heavy Australian market, the ASX 200 outperforming global peers to rise +6.4%, while the AUD/USD rose 3.5%. Not all areas of global equities were well supported, however, with Asian markets continuing to struggle with the impact of increasing COVID lockdowns and ongoing supply chain difficulties.

The Market Neutral strategy delivered a positive return, with the long book as the significant contributor to positive returns this month, namely resource focused companies such as coal miner Stanmore Resources (+62%) and Coronado Resources (+31%).

The Small Companies strategy provided the strongest returns this month driven by long positions in the mining and energy space, with the Fund continuing to maintain a solid overweight to the Materials sector driven by a continued expectation for buoyant commodity prices over the coming months. Main contributors were positions in Australian gold producer Red 5 (+23%) and lithium developer Galan Lithium (+47%).

Key sectors that contributed from the Long Short Equity strategy included Materials, Energy and Financials in line with broader moves across the index. Positive returns were delivered by long positions in Quebec-based iron ore producer Champion Iron (+21%), graphite producer Syrah Resources (+15%) and major bank NAB (+12%).

The Long Short Health Care strategy was largely flat as Asian equities experienced a challenging month of performance on the back of extended lockdowns and further increasing COVID-19 cases significantly impacting broader economic activity.

In line with broader market movements, the Emerging Companies strategy's positive performance was led by long positions in the Energy and Materials sectors. Main contributors were oil and gas explorer Melbana Energy (+93%) and Life360 (+13%).

STRATEGY

The investment objective of RF1 is to provide investors with exposure to a selection of alternative investment strategies with the aim of producing attractive risk-adjusted absolute returns over a period of more than five years with limited correlation to equity markets. Regal Funds Management Pty Limited's ("Regal" or the "Manager") investment philosophy is grounded in the belief that a diversified portfolio of assets, using a range of investment strategies and backed by long-term capital, is key to achieving superior risk-adjusted returns over the long-term.

The RF1 portfolio is constructed by the Manager using multiple investment strategies managed by it. The Manager may adjust the Portfolio's strategy allocations depending on prevailing market conditions or other factors it considers relevant at the time in order to achieve RF1's investment objectives.
